A WORD ABOUT SUGAR.

The other day ex-Governor Warmoth, owner of a large sugar plantation in Louisiana, expressed the confident belief that within a few years this country will be able to manufacture its own sugar. "The new diffusion process," he said, "enables us to get practically all the sugar out of the cane, while under the old milling process there was a loss of from 35 to 40 per cent. I have no doubt that a much larger part of the south than is now used for sugar making will be found entirely practicable for that purpose." He also expressed faith in the practicability of making sugar in paying quantities from sorghum and the sugar beet. And he added: "The only thing that we want now is a stable, fixed policy with reference to sugar making in this country. If the tariff can be let alone so far as we are concerned, and our industry accorded the same protection that is given to other industries, I feel confident that with the new machinery and new methods we shall be able to manufacture in this country all the sugar required, no matter how great the increase of population. And so we will return at home the $75,000,000 or $100,000,000 now annually sent abroad for foreign sugar."

William H. Barnum, for many years chairman of the democratic national committee, died on Tuesday in Connecticut. He had been in ill-health for some time, and last year was not in a condition to manage the campaign, and Cal Brice was made chairman. For many years he was engaged in the manufacture of car wheels and thereby made a fortune. He served in congress and was a conspicuous member of that body.

Says an exchange, "Strange as it may seem, even old Jeff Davis takes an interest in the centennial, though he spent some of the best years of his life in trying to make it impossible that it should be held." Yes, had the Calhounism, which Cleveland so loudly praised two years ago, and the Jeff Davis which al the south and many democrats in the north endorsed, succeeded, there would not have been any occasion for the celeb ration which has just taken place.

A timely remark from the Evening Wisconsin: "Perhaps the happiest man in the presidential train at New York to-day—the happiest man in this broad land for that matter—is Wisconsin's Uncle Jerry Rusk. He is a full-fledged national character now, with all the distinction the title implies. He enjoys it heartily; he is built that way. And all the people of Wisconsin rejoice heartily with him."

It is very likely that the centennial procession in New York was the grandest military pageant ever seen in this country. Of course, it was not as large as the great review on the 22d of May, 1865, but it was more brilliant in its composition. Full particulars of the New York celebration will be found in this impression of the Gazette.

George Francis Train has fasted thirteen days. He can't fast too long to suit the public. A perpetual fast would please the public.

The American System.
LONDON, May 1.—Mr. Westley Richards, in an address before the Farmers' club, advocated the adoption of the American system of selling cattle by live weight. Mr. C. C. Read, speaking of his experience in America, advised the English farmers to immediately adopt the American system. The meeting agreed to recommend its adoption.

Alleged Cruelty to Stowaways.
NEW YORK, May 1.—There were sixteen stowaways on board the steamship Romans, which arrived from Liverpool to-day. They were all boys under 17 years of age. One of them had badly blistered feet. The blisters, he said, was caused by being compelled to shovel coal in the engine room and that hot coals fell on his feet. Pending an investigation the boy will be kept on board.

WHERE TO GET A GOOD LESSON.
The celebration on Tuesday was the grandest ever known in the history of the country. It was grand in spirit and grand in its preparations and proportions.

There are a good many lessons we get from this centennial celebration. We can not only refresh our minds as to the desperate struggle required to secure American independence, and more fully appreciate the priceless services and the exalted patriotism of Washington, but it is a good time to study up on the progress of the country during the past hundred years. The world never before saw, and will never again, anything to match the development of civilization in the United States. The pedestal on which this marvellous success has rested is the constitution which William E. Gladstone calls the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man.

The spirit of patriotism is to signs of the declaration of independence, and the lofty character of Washington have run all through the years of national life since that time. The government was founded on the right idea, and that idea is with us to-day. It was the idea of freedom, the policy that a poor man could own his own farm, that any man, no matter how humble, if he were honest and could be trusted, could have an equal chance in the race of life with men more favored. It is this equality that has made the United States the most prosperous, the most advanced, the most enterprising nation on earth.

In the development of all industries, in the progress of the arts and sciences, in everything that tends to make a nation strong, free and progressive, no country of the old world can match the United States. Of course its possibilities have been greater than other countries. It has more work for its people, more land for the farmers, more homes for the workingmen and a greater reward for labor than any other country.

It is a good time to call all these things to mind that we may fully appreciate the greatness of the nation; more fully appreciate the exaltedness of the patriotism and the loftiness of the courage, that gave us all these national blessings.

Mr. Chauncy M. Depew's versatility as a diner-out was well demonstrated on Saturday evening. He was engaged to preside at the great birthday dinner given at Delmonico's. He was also invited to appear at the dinner given in honor of Minister Whitelaw Reid at the Lotus Club. After standing the dinner at Delmonico's, Mr. Depew jumped in a carriage and was driven to the Lotus. He joined the dinner at the roast. Being early called upon he made one of his delightful speeches, and then hastened back to Delmonico's. There he delivered a beautiful tribute to Grant's memory, and introduced the other speaker of the evening.

Those who find fault—that is the democrats and the mugwumps—with the lively manner in which Clarkson is exercising the duties of his office. One day last week of the 175 appointments made, 75 per cent were to fill vacancies caused by death or resignation. On the whole, according to Assistant Postmaster General Clarkson, practically changes are only made either when charges have been preferred against the incumbents and sustained, or to improve the location of offices, or where a postmaster has been in office for four years.

THE HAMILTON HORROR.

CENSURE FOR THE GRAND TRUNK COMPANY.

Neglectful of Proper Attempts to Prevent the Holocaust—A Day's List of Casualties.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 1.—Indignation is expressed on all sides against the Grand Trunk road in connection with the disaster at the junction cut.

Over a Thousand Men Employed on the Cable Car Line Quit Work.

St. Paul, Minn., May 1.—The street car company has another strike on hand. The men at work on the cable line on East Seventh street, 1,018 in number, left their work at 1 o'clock p. m. Monday. For some time past the men have been dissatisfied with the wages they received—$1.25 a day—and have been organizing secretly so as to obtain an average of $2.50 a day if possible. Yesterday a secret meeting was held, and a committee appointed to confer with the company, and the committee fulfilled its duty. The men's demands were refused, and ten minutes later went along the line, starting at Cedar and Seventh streets, to Seventh and Franklin streets, where the men had come out. As the committee and the men had left the work marched along the structure they notified and took along the other men. All seemed to be prepared and ready to follow until the committee arrived at Broadway, where two men were at work who refused to obey the order of the strikers. Immediately a scuffle and dirt commenced to fly about. The strikers were told to quit also. They were received with cheers by the strikers and taken along further east.

At 3 o'clock only the gas testers, who are not in the employ of the company, were still at work in the trenches, and that line was general.

After the men had gone out a great number of them assembled in the street, and appearances being considered threatening, the mounted police squad was sent to the scene, under Lieut. Buday, at 2:35. All along Seventh street, from Broadway to the railway bridge, men were scattered in groups discussing the situation. There was no sign of trouble, but the men seemed determined and will evidently make a hard

ST. LOUIS STIRRED UP.

Fears That the Anti-Option Bill Will Drive the Grain Trade to Chicago.

St. Louis, Mo., May 1.—The bulls and bears of St. Louis are very much exercised over the prospect of anti-option dealing legislation in Jefferson City. The passage by both Houses of the Legislature of the bill prohibiting the sale of contracts of option, when neither party to the transaction possesses or expects to transfer the goods purchased, is the sole topic of conversation at the Merchants' Exchange, and the universal sentiment was that the law is a death blow to option dealing.

There is a bill before the Governor for signature or veto. Gov. Francis, who made his fortune in option dealing, voted for the bill, and it is believed he would veto the bill. It is feared, however, that Lieut.-Gov. Claycomb will exercise his prerogative during the Governor's absence to sign the bill. All the traders on the exchange are worried over the effect of the bill, and it is believed that it will be bad for the merchants of the islands. Upon the proposal of Mr. Kasson it was agreed to conduct the proceedings of the conference in English. Count Bismarck has issued instructions to the members of the conference to dine with him on Friday. The Emperor received a special invitation to attend the dinner, but, at the next meeting will receive the report of a sub-committee. All of the delegates appear to be satisfied with the proceedings so far.

DISCUSSING SAMOAN AFFAIRS.

The Conference in Samoa—Kasson Speaks for the United States.

BERLIN, May 1.—In the Samoan conference Count Herbert Bismarck, speaking in the French language, disapproved on behalf of Germany any idea of arrangement inconsistent with existing treaties.

Sir Edward Malet and Mr. Kasson followed in a similar strain, the latter insisting that it was a law of America that the differences would be settled on a basis which would preserve the autonomy of the islands.

Upon the proposal of Mr. Kasson it was agreed to conduct the proceedings of the conference in English. Count Bismarck has issued instructions to the members of the conference to dine with him on Friday.

The Emperor received a special invitation to attend the dinner, but, at the next meeting will receive the report of a sub-committee.

CHENOA ON FIRE.

A Fierce Conflagration Threatens to Destroy the Town.

CHENOA, Ill., May 1.—Crosby's brick block in this city is burning and cannot be saved, as we have no fire engine. There are fears that the entire business part of the town is in danger. The burning block contains the drug store, Nickels & Son's hardware, Williams' dry goods and grocery store, Folsom's post office, Crosby's printing office, Hattie Castle's millinery, Lille's cigar factory, Hickey's saloon, Dr. Anthony's office. There is great danger of buildings on the other side of the street burning. The loss will be very heavy. W. Quinn, agent of the United States express company and J. L. Ladd, who badly hurt by falling walls. The Bloomberg fire department was sent for, and two crews came on a special train, and two crews were sent for.

Young Latimer Excited.

JACKSON, Mich., May 1.—Several citizens were sworn by the prosecution in the Latimer trial, and they all testified to the peculiar actions of the prisoner at the time of the trial. A witness from Detroit testified regarding remarks made by Latimer there, which the prosecution claims he could not have made unless he knew of the murder. While this evidence was being given the prisoner became greatly excited and held a hurried conference with his lawyers. This is the first time during the trial he has shown any concern. The testimony of the prosecution is practically through.

Pratice Caused by a Bandit.

NEW YORK, May 1.—The recent accompaniment of the bandit, who was captured yesterday, to the police station of Jersey City, was a most exciting sight. The bandit, while riding to his home from Jersey City and went into the woods to fight out their dispute. Bennett was badly whipped, and the two were finally induced to get into the wagon and continue the journey home. They had gone but a short distance when Bennett pulled a knife and stabbed his antagonist repeatedly. The latter is in a precarious condition and Bonnet is in jail.

Stabbed by a Victorian Antagonist.

LUDINGTON, Ind., May 1.—William Stephen, a boy, 14, was stoned to death yesterday while riding to his home from Columbus City and went into the woods to fight out their dispute. Bennett was badly whipped, and the two were finally induced to get into the wagon and continue the journey home. They had gone but a short distance when Bennett pulled a knife and stabbed his antagonist repeatedly. The latter is in a precarious condition and Bonnet is in jail.

IN TROUBLE ABOUT THE MUSIC.

The Janesville Bands Tire of Playing at Their Own Expense.

Talk of Throwing Up Both Charters—What the Band Men Say.

There is a strong possibility that within the next few weeks the Janesville bands as separate organizations will cease to exist. Music in the Bower City has not been a profitable commodity for some time past. All attempts at manipulating the sackbut, dallying with the psaltery and twanging the cimarron for the edification of Janesville ears have been at a loss. The breath that was sent pulsing through large-mouthed tubas that jolted clusters of shrill notes out of flutes and piccolos was breath wasted.

"It's no use," remarked the band men, "Janesville will not support two bands. One is enough."

But which one was to survive. "Come over and unite with us," said the members of the Bower City band.

"No; we had better both break up and have a new organization," was the response.

This proposition was discussed by the Bower City band at the regular meeting a night or two ago. It met with little favor.

"We have been organized since 1870," remarked one of the leaders. "We have won considerable reputation away from home as well as at home, and frequently that reputation will help us in the way of dollars and cents. To give it up is like giving up so much money."

It is doubtful, therefore, whether the organization would be sustained to. But on the other hand the Catholic band objects to going in under its rival's name and insists that a compromise should be agreed upon the same as in the case of the Guards and Rifles. Both bands are anxious that some steps leading to a better financial condition be taken at once, and it is possible that the matter will be left to arbitration.

BRIEFLETS.

"46" wasn't pulled last night.

—A. C. Kent & Co. voluntarily subscribed six hundred dollars a year to their employees to-day by increasing wages ten per cent in every department. Coming as it does at a season when many other employers are scaling wages down the increase brought with it good feeling on all hands. Mr. Kent's employees are not likely to strike.

—The grounds of Oak Hill cemetery are now undergoing their spring cleaning, and the trustees are anxious to have all lots properly cared for at this season. Parties owning lots which they desire to have the board keep in order are requested to notify the president of the cemetery association, Mr. Volney Atwood.

—Addy's museum was well filled with ladies and gentlemen all day. The collection is worth much trouble to see and those who have not visited the museum should do so at once. It will be on exhibition only a few days more. There are thousands of rare curiosities from all over the world. Mr. Addy has devoted thirty years in collecting and has a correspondence that takes in nearly all countries and every part of the United States.

—The funeral of the late Mrs. Edward Caih was held from Trinity church at three o'clock this afternoon, the Rev. James Shidell conducting the impressive services, which were listened to by a large number of family friends. The Palmer is treating him and his many friends are anxious for his recovery.

—Little Elsie Hodge is quite sick with pneumonia; was just recovering from whooping cough. Doctors Borden of Marion, and Mills of Janesville, have both attended her; she is a little better at present writing this.

—House music is in the order of the day and there are times when every house wishes for a dozen pairs of hands and a steam engine to run them.

—Mr. Fred Smith of New York, is looking over the country to buy a first-class farm; he has been to Dakota, Iowa and Minnesota and finds no place that beats Southern Wisconsin.

—Outsaw and sack business suits in great variety and at living prices at Zeigler's.

HE WAS FULL OF GRIT.

KAY HUMPHREY'S WORK OF A MILE WITH HIS SKULL CRUSHED.

The story of the accident to Kay Humphrey, who now lies at the city hospital, shows that the young man's grit is not lacking. Kay, after dinner last Saturday, went to his uncle's barn near Arden-ton, and while preparing to take out the horse to be worked during the afternoon, in some manner came too close to the heels of a two year old colt, tied in a neighboring stall. The result was a terrible blow, which struck him on the left side of his face, shattering and driving the cheek bone back and upward into the brain, fracturing the upper jaw and splitting the nasal bone, making a terrible wound. At the time of the accident Kay was the only person on the farm, the rest of the family having earlier in the day gone to Janesville, leaving him alone.

Then it was that he displayed his grit and endurance. Alone and unsupervised, with his face in this condition, he walked over a mile to the station, arriving in time to take the 12:52 p. m. train for Janesville, and on arriving here, with the aid of a friend walked down town, where he underwent the terrible operation for two and a half hours, during which the doctor removed twenty-five pieces of shattered bone from his face.

Judge Patterson heard the story to-day of a spirited meeting between Mr. Charles T. Wilcox and Louis Richter. For some time past there has not been the best of feeling between Messrs. Wilcox and Richter on account of a split meal ticket that figured a short time ago in the course. When an altercation came up, therefore, between Mr. Wilcox and William Gaylor, another boarder at the American House, Mr. Richter interfered. It was in the hotel dining room, and he was landlord, was bound to preserve the peace. He preserved it in the good old-fashioned way—that is he sat on Mr. Wilcox and spanked him. Then he went to the municipal court, charged Mr. Wilcox with assaulting his fellow-boarder, Gaylor, and swore out a warrant. The warrant has not yet been served.

It is understood that the damage suit of Lickner against the city of Edgerton, which was to have been tried for the second time before Judge Bennett, has been settled. At the time of the first trial a verdict was rendered for the defendant in the sum of five hundred dollars.

In the circuit court to-day the case of Pauls vs. Sennett was dismissed, the plaintiff not appearing. Judge Bennett listened during the day to testimony in a "dog" case, the dog of Dexter Gray being alleged to have killed seventy sheep belonging to Charles W. Fox.

Five hundred dollars recompense is sued for by Mr. Fox. Another similar case, that of Fox against Sheutzow is soon to come up for trial. The day calendar for to-morrow includes the following cases: Pauls vs. Sennett; Horn vs. Arndt, Doran vs. Ryan, Fox vs. Sheutzow, In re the will of James Denning, McKivett as guardian vs. Quinn et al.

THE PASSION PLAY.

THE LECTURE AT COURT STREET M. E. CHURCH ON FRIDAY EVENING.

The Hon. Kent Kosseh, Kenosha, will lecture at Court Street M. E. church next Friday evening, May 3d, on "The Passion Play of Oberammergau." Mr. Kosseh is one of Milwaukee's brilliant young lawyers, and years of travel abroad have made him thoroughly at home with the subjects of his different addresses. Of this subject on which he speaks Friday evening, the Portage paper says: "The exhibition of the views of the scenes and tableaux illustrative performance of the 'Passion Play' with an explanation by Mr. Fox being alleged to have killed seventy sheep belonging to Charles W. Fox."

Chief Engineer Blunk requested Marshal Hogan to take out warrants this morning for the arrest of Supt. Croft, and David Davies for turning the alarm in from box 32, located at South Main and Racine streets.

Last night at 9:35 o'clock an alarm of fire was turned in from box 32, located at South Main and Racine streets. The fire department and a large number of citizens hastened to the locality only to find that no cause for the alarm existed.

Ald. Chas. Horn, T. T. Croft and David Davies, who were out celebrating, were seen in the neighborhood of the box a moment previous to the alarm, and they are charged with pulling the box. Word was given the chief engineer that this same trio of celebrants intended to send another alarm during the night from box 46, and the chief took measure to have them arrested by placing watchmen at several of the boxes in the fourth ward, but no attempt at a farther disturbance resulted.

Late in the night the party materialized in River street and confronted Marshal Hogan, Chief Engineer Blunk, Ald. J. B. McLean, chairman of the committee on fire and water, and several other members and officers of the fire department, none of whom were in the best of humor, Ald. Horn became quite indignant at Ald. McLean because he protested against Ald. Horn's intent to make the park a model in every way. There will be many additional conveniences provided for guests and an effort will be made to associate with the name of Janesville a resort for campers that can not be surpassed in the state.

"I don't know of a river anywhere," said Mr. Martin Fredericksen, an enthusiast in boating and boating and water sports, "and I am sure that the appearance of the grounds has changed materially during the past month. The expenditure of labor and money has produced good results. Mr. Burr's intent is
